

To whom it may concern,

This is to certify that Robert Hedlerfog, a student in mathematics, computerscience and economics at the University of Lund, Sweden, is quite able in the English language. In his studies he is most of the time working in English, together with an extensive use of Internet for his contacts in English, all over the world. He lives in my house and I can fully recommend him as a good and honest student.

Lennart-Axel Grip

Associate professor,
Building Functioning Analysis